

WINDSWEPT TALES FOR CHILDREN

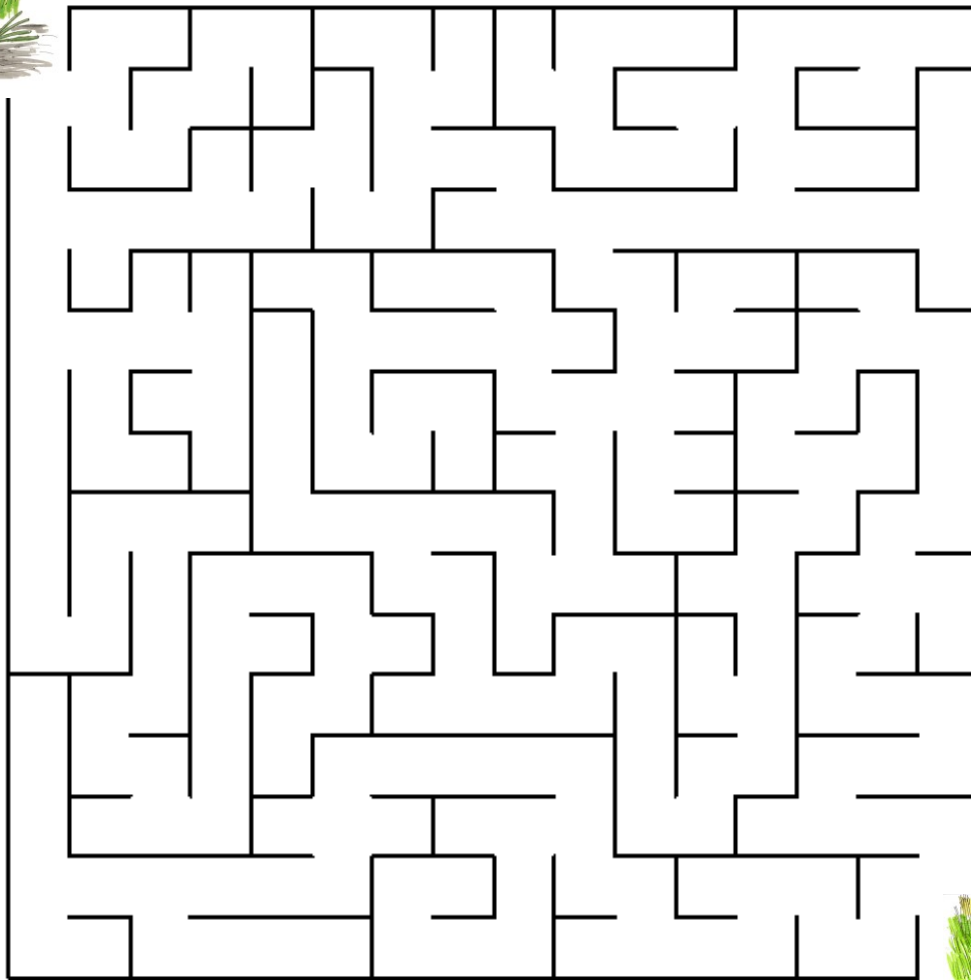

by Aurora Hardy

Meadow Jumping Mouse Maze

Help the mouse find its way back to its burrow.

FUN FACTS

- Meadow jumping mice move in a series of short hops or crawl through the grass.
- When they are startled, they will often make several great big hops in different directions, then freeze. This helps to disorient predators.
- Their nests are made out of grass and leaves and are usually underground.
- They like to eat seeds, berries, fruit and insects.
